From Porta Palatina to the north of the town, keep to the left on the flat towards the mediaeval fountain. Go past the fountain and turn right on to a road which leads gently up and downhill around a group of houses and on to the bend on the SS 476. From here take a dirt track to the right which leads back to the SS 476. After a few metres leave the main road and turn right at a villa with some pine trees and follow the sign "Strada Privata" through a riding stable. Continue along the tarmac road which rises up to where three roads meet and turn left at a refuse bin. Go straight on with 2 small villas on your right. Take the slightly uphill right turn at the fork and follow a stony path. When you reach the tarmac road, turn right and continue as far as a square. From here take a look at the church of Santa Maria delle Grazie on the left, and then, in order to return to your starting point, turn right and walk up the road leaving the church behind you. Go past the secondary school on the right, take the second turning on the right next to a building currently in a state of ruin, but which was once an oratory. Go back up the road to finish up near Porta Palatina.
